THE FUTURE OF THE GLOBAL MUSLIM POPULATION

According to a research carried out by the PEW Research Centre (Forum on Religion & Public Life), the number of Muslims around the world is expected to rise by about 35% to approximately 2.2 billion by 2030. The report suggests that Pakistan is expected to surpass Indonesia as a single largest Muslim population nation in the world by 2030.

However, the report also claims that the Muslim population is expected to grow at a slower pace in the next two decades than it did in the previous two decades. Some of the major and minor factors responsible for these demographic shifts in Global Muslim population are shown in this report..

N-11 COUNTRIES

The Next Eleven (or N-11) are eleven countries identified by Goldman Sachs investment bank as having a high potential of becoming, along with the BRICs, the world's largest economies in the 21st century. The bank chose these states, all with promising outlooks for investment and future growth, on December 12, 2005. The criteria that Goldman Sachs used were macroeconomic stability, political maturity, openness of trade and investment policies and the quality of education.

2. Egypt
3. Indonesia
4. Iran
5. Mexico
6. Nigeria
7. Pakistan
8. Philippines
9. South Korea
10. Turkey
11. Vietnam

Points to be noted about the N-11 countries are:

• Since we introduced the notion of the N-11 in late 2005, there has been increased focus on these countries (Bangladesh, Egypt, Indonesia, Iran, Korea, Mexico, Nigeria, Pakistan, Philippines, Turkey and Vietnam).

• Recent economic performance has improved and equity markets have been strong.

• While the N-11 may not have the scale to have a 'BRIC-like' impact, they could rival the G7.

• As a source of new demand and sustained growth, they could surpass major markets.

• Several of the N-11 could perhaps join the largest economies in the world.

• Growth conditions vary widely across the N-11, and several face large challenges.

• Growth stories could be much more compelling in places if conditions improved.

• As a group of potentially large, fast-growing markets, the N-11 could be an important source of growth and opportunity.

The cluster approach was first set out in a Humanitarian Response Review (HRR) paper commissioned by the UN following the Asian Tsunami in 2005. The basic premise was that accountability, predictability and reliability could be improved by identifying organisational leaders for different areas of the humanitarian response, i.e. clusters. Representatives of the international organisations, NGOs and the government are involved in this process. They jointly agree on a common list of projects to be funded and implemented by the various actors.
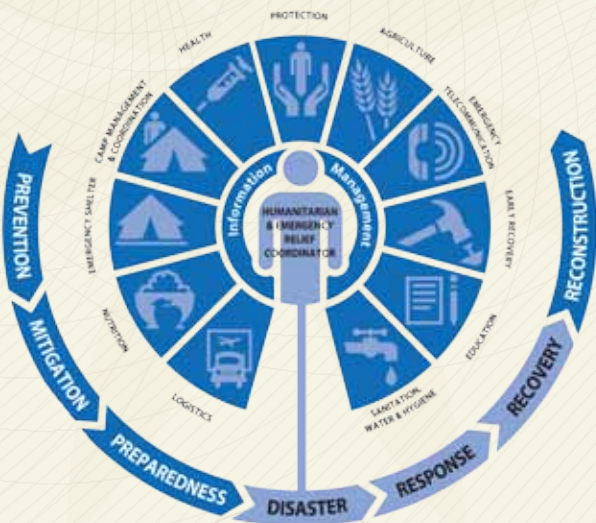

MILLENNIUM DEVELOPMENT GOALS

In 2000, 189 nations made a promise to free people from extreme poverty and multiple deprivations. This pledge became the eight Millennium Development Goals to be achieved by 2015. In September 2010, the world recommitted itself to accelerate progress towards these goals.

The MDGs provide a framework for the entire UN system to work coherently together toward a common end. UNDP, global development network on the ground in 177 countries and territories, is in a unique position to advocate for change, connect countries to knowledge and resources, and coordinate broader efforts at the country level.

GDP PER CAPITA

GDP per capita (current US$) is gross domestic product divided by midyear population. GDP is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products.

GNI PER CAPITA

GNI per capital (current US$) is the gross national income, converted to U.S. dollars using the World Bank Atlas method. GNI is the sum of value added by all resident producers plus any product taxes (less subsidies) not included in the valuation of output plus net receipts of primary income (compensation of employees and property income) from abroad.

CORRUPTION INDEX

The Corruption Perceptions Index (CPI) ranks countries according to the perception of corruption in the public sector. The CPI is an aggregate indicator that combines different sources of information about corruption

ODA (MULTILATERAL)

Public and publicly guaranteed multilateral loans include loans and credits from the World Bank, regional development banks, and other multilateral and intergovernmental agencies (IMF, ADB, UN, etc). Excluded are loans from funds administered by an international organization on behalf of a single donor government; these are classified as loans from governments.

ODA (BILATERAL)

Bilateral transactions are those undertaken by a donor country directly with an aid recipient. They also include transactions with national and international non-government organizations active in development and other internal development-related transactions such as interest subsidies, spending on promotion of development awareness and administrative costs. Bilateral ODA includes project and programme aid, technical cooperation, developmental food aid, debt relief and humanitarian aid.

FDI

Foreign direct investment, net inflows (BoP, current US$) is the sum of equity capital, reinvestment of earnings, other long-term capital, and short-term capital as shown in the balance of payments.

REMITTANCES

(current US$) Workers' remittances and compensation of employees comprise current transfers by migrant workers and wages and salaries earned by non-resident workers. Data are the sum of three items defined in the fifth edition of the IMF's Balance of Payments Manual: workers' remittances, compensation of employees, and migrants' transfers.

UN HDI

The United Nations Human Development Index (UN HDI) is a global measurement standard which goes beyond income to assess the level of people's long-term well-being and quality of life. The Human Development Index is calculated by combining indicators of life expectancy, educational attainment and income into a composite human development index, the HDI. The formula defining the HDI is promulgated by the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP). In general, to transform a raw variable, say x, into a unit-free index between 0 and 1 (which allows different indices to be added together) shows highly developed countries as being closest to 1 and least developed countries as closest to 0.

The HDI combines indicators for three dimensions of human development into one summary measure: 1) A long and healthy life, measured by life expectancy at birth; 2) Knowledge, measured by adult literacy rate and the combined gross enrolment ratio for primary, secondary, and tertiary schools; 3) A decent standard of living, measured by GDP per capita (PPP in US$).

PASSPORT LOGIC

The countries were compiled using a filter method of countries which are: 1) Members States of the OIC; 2) Have a UN HDI ranking above 100; and 3) Either Mobile Penetration Rate above 50% or a greater than 5 million number of active mobile subscribers. Saudi Arabia, Algeria and Tunisia were exceptions to the rule. After Pakistan and Saudi Arabia, countries were order by the number of active mobile subscribers.
